The building of Corso Karlín itself was constructed already in 1890. It is part of the ambitious “New Karlín” plan, which is based on the renovation of the former industrial premises of the ČKD company, without losing its distinctiveness.

The former industrial hall known as “Plechárna” (Boilerplate Hall), where sheet metal boilers were manufactured, stood on the site where Corso Karlín is currently located.

The architects Ricardo Bofill Levi and Jean Pierre Carniaux transformed it into a modern, functional office building, leaving the original gable wall with its stucco decorations and adding a stylish glass superstructure.

A Sought-out Location near the Metro

- 2 minutes from the Metro B-line station Křižíkova
- 4 minutes from the tram stop
- A 12-minute walk away from Metro C-Line station Florenc
- An 11-minute walk away from the Praha-Florenc bus terminal

The Corso Karlín office building is found in a peaceful location in the centre of Prague, in Křižíkova street in the Municipal District of Prague 8 - Karlín.

The great advantage of the location of the Karlín Quarter in Prague is its excellent accessibility by all types of transit - by car, public transit, or by bicycle thanks to Karlín's connection to the network of Prague cycle paths.

Metro B-Line station Křižíkova is in direct proximity to the building, just as is the tram stop of the same name. It is possible to walk to the Florenc bus terminal and metro station within 11 minutes.

Karlín is a popular quarter with a rich offer of restaurants, cafés, and shops. The nearby park next to the church of Sts Cyril and Methodius or Vítkov Hill offer plenty of space to rest after work.
